As all of the activities offered at Area 47 take place in the natural habitat, I accept that on behalf of my child I must take some residual risk due to unpredictable events that can happen on the mountain, in the gorge and / or on the river. In other words, anyone can be injured in the activities due to clumsy behaviour or low levels of fitness, the organiser nor the guide can be held responsible for such incidents. Anxious participants who may have underestimated the activity should notify the guides immediately, as well as any injuries that may have occurred and / or damage to equipment. It is required for the participants safety that they adhere to all instructions given to them by the guides, and that they take part in all safety drills under the guidance of the guide. Along with the guide, the participant will also be responsible for checking their own equipment and that it is intact. For property damage and personal injury resulting from non-compliance with such instructions, no liability is assumed. For the loss and damage of valuables, glasses, watches, etc. the organiser is not liable. Such items can be deposited and stored safely at all bases, prior to the activity.
